Meditation

Adam Chacksfield is the creator of “Falling Open,” a transformative four-month online course.

At age 33 he left his career as a Professor at WIU to devote himself to spiritual opening in community with others. Five years later, with the support and guidance of Peter Fenner, a pioneer in nondual psychology, Adam began to publicly offer nondual teaching and coaching. He now facilitates people falling open to the liberating truth, by supporting the release of burdening beliefs and holding patterns in the body.

In addition to the “Falling Open” course Adam offers public meetings, workshops and retreats in the San Francisco Bay Area, Macomb, numerous other cities, and online. He also works with individuals providing nondual transformation coaching. To learn more and/or subscribe to his newsletter visit: www.adamchacksfield.com

Yoga

Karen Mauldin-Curtis,
RYT200 / 309.221.6646 /
kmauldincurtis@gmail.com

Karen has more than 20 years of yoga experience and has been teaching in the Macomb area since 2003. In 2011, she completed a 200 hour intensive yoga teacher training program through tapas yoga shala, www.tapasyogashala.com. Karen is a nationally registered yoga teacher through Yoga Alliance. In addition to weekly classes, Karen offers private lessons and yoga workshops/retreats. Karen’s personal practice and teaching focus on cultivating awareness through the practice of yoga. Throughout the weekend’s yoga sessions, Karen will integrate a variety of yoga styles, including Kripalu, Ashtanga, and Iyengar. In addition to teaching yoga, Karen manages a graduate fellowship program at WIU, is busy raising three children, and helps her husband, John Curtis, manage Barefoot Gardens - a small-scale, organic market garden and CSA.

Labyrinths and Mandalas

Kelley Quinn earned her master's degree in contemporary art history and criticism from Webster University (St. Louis, MO), is a Certified Labyrinth Facilitator and has received Illinois Arts Council teaching artist status since 2006. She has created mandalas and labyrinths with more than 2,000 individuals of all ages. She has created numerous public and private designs in the area and has been invited to present at conferences and retreats both nationally and internationally. Quinn resides in Macomb with her husband and two children and teaches Spanish and Critical Theory at Western Illinois University. Visit her at www.kelleyquinn.com
